DESERTED WIFE OF FALSE LORD

One Week After Marriage.

STORY OF PATHETIC INTEREST

She Believed Him to be Traveling Incog When Using All Sorts of Aliases to Swindle.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.) NORFOLK, VA., Nov. 28.—Mrs. Reginald Oswald Douglas, wso used to be Miss Louisiana Hobbs, of Lambert's Point, who was wedded to a supposed "Lord" Douglas, self-claimed to be a member of the British nobility, a trifle over a year ago returned to the home of her aunt, Mrs. Missouri Hawkins, yesterday afternoon a deserted wife, the victim of a scoundre and with a six-weeks'-old baby boy in her arms. The whereabouts of the "Lord" and with a six-weeks'-old baby boy in her arms, The whereabouts of the "Lord" are unknown, but the police of many cities in all parts of the country want to shake hands with him.

The story of Mrs. Lbuglas's desertion by her husband in California, after ha had victimized a number of friends by borrowing money from them, and of Mrs. Douglas's trip to Houston, Tex., where her child was born, has already been polid. The unfortunate young woman's tale is one of patholic interest.

After her marriage the couple, then "very happy," left for Bailtimore and thence to New York, They sailed for Liverpool and from England went to France.

"My husband was very kind to me for the first two weeks and then one day, because I said something that annoyed him, he struck me in the face with his first and knocked me down," said Mrs. Douglas to-day. "I forgave him, though, and we patched up the trouble and all went along just as well as before. In France he went by the name of Oswald and his explanation gave me the impression that, being such a prominent member of the British aristocracy, he wished to travel incog' and this, to my mind, was a sufficient excuse for the various allases which he assumed during our travels.

"We returned from France to New York and then went to Cincinnati. Leaving there, we went to San Francisco and sailed for Hong Kong. I found afterwards that he was borrowing money from newly made friends in all of the places which he visited. He was known in various places by the names of Lane, Fritz, Moningue, Scott, Douglas and Oswald and many others which I forgot, but I attributed it to the fact that he didn't want people to know who he really was.

Timely Reductions on Women's Coats

Here is welcome news for the woman who seeks quality with a short purse--and if she is particular about style and appearance, then this story is brimful of double

Commencing Tuesday morning in the Suit Parlors, we will sell, as long as you will let them stay at their changed prices-

75 Women's Fine Tailored Coats At Just Half of Their Real Value.

These Coats are perfectly made in the styles of to-day, with nothing but their shortened prices to indicate their cheapness.

When the reduction pencil overtakes such garments at practically the first winterish days of the season, there is certainly no need to impress upon you the importance of the occasion. Of course you will not blame us if you come late and are disappointed.

A few of these Coats were $10, most of them $15 and $20; the new prices are $5, $7.50 and $10 each.

For shirt-waists and for children's dresses.

Here is a goodly assortment of as goodly a value as you ever paid 121c for, or even a half more.

The patterns are all dainty and acceptablechecks and small figures.

New Galoons and Bands

There is a brand new lot of exquisite Galoons and Bands assembled at the Lace counters that will interest women of fashion who want the correct finishing touch for the ultra gown of to-day. The widths are 11 to 5 inches...

The newest Bands in White, Cream and Ecru Point Lear, Point Gause and Point Venice, 50e. yard to $3,50.

Galoons, in white, cream and ecru, at 50c, yard

Imported English Madras

A bit of rare good fortune is responsible for the fact that the annex holds this real Imported English Madras at 25c, instead of 35c a yard to 5oc.

An importer being crowded with new goods arriving for spring, offered us these at a price to make space. We took the goods-he got the space-you get the bargain.

The Madras is all white, beautifully mercerized, daintily figured, winter weight, 32 inches, 25c. yard.

Splendid Full Showing Allover Laces

We point with especial pride to the rich and tasteful gathering of beautiful Allover Laces that is now ready for your inspection. Holding all the newness that the present Lace world affords, it is but natural that the assortment should be very large and that quick and highly-pleasing selections should be an easily attained consequence.
